

OVERVIEW

We understand that accounting professionals are always on the lookout for ways to enhance client value.

What We Add

- › Easy access to our AP platform
- › Scalable and affordable technology
- › Various workflows that provide controls
- › ACH/Check bill payment automation
- › Detailed audit trails providing transparency
- › Unlimited electronic document storage and management

What We Remove

- › A grueling manual paper process
- › Various fraud risk at the bill and vendor payment levels
- › Poor time management
- › Archaic business practices by providing cloud-based technology

The screenshot displays the QuickBooks AP dashboard. At the top is a navigation bar with menu items: Bills, Vendor Credits, Expenses, Payments, Payees, Reports, References, Admin, David Cox, and Q&A Inc. Below the navigation bar, the dashboard is divided into several sections:

- Quick Links: A vertical list of actions including 'Add a Bill', 'Pay Bills', 'Manage Vendors', 'Manage Users', and 'Search Bills'.
- To-Do List: A list of tasks with associated counts: 'Bills ready for payment' (72), 'Bills assigned to me' (3), 'Open bills resulting approval' (8), 'Bills ready for review' (21), and 'Bills ready for data entry' (16).
- Bill Status: A donut chart showing the distribution of bill statuses. The legend indicates: Ready For Review (light blue), Ready For Approval (dark blue), Ready For Payment (grey), Deleted (red), and Partially Paid (yellow).
- Account Settings: A list of settings options: 'Edit User Profile & Settings', 'Modify Bank Account Info', 'Change Subscription Plan', 'Full QuickBooks Sync Settings', and 'Edit User Permissions'.
- Notification Center: A section for system messages, showing a recent successful sync: 'Last Sync of: 03/01/2017 03:01:08 AM Sync Status: Success'.

A 'Live Chat' button is visible on the right side of the dashboard.

WORKING. BETTER.

Your clients look to you for guidance and expertise. With cloud-based automation, the benefits are not only many, but also easily demonstrable to your clients.

- › Eliminating confusion and discrepancies with auto-detection of duplicate invoices
- › Providing multiple workflow options per client, allowing the ability to assign the best fit for their particular needs
- › Assigning and delegating bill review, approval and payment process per client user type
- › Providing an enormous amount of granular audit data, including time-stamped records of any and all actions applied to vendor and bill data

The Result? Benefits For Both You And Your Clients

GETTING STARTED

We want to make onboarding as easy as possible.

This handy checklist should help you get started.

FIRST THINGS FIRST

- Decide who will ultimately take ownership of the Circulus account
- Integrate your client's QuickBooks account
- Set your QuickBooks Sync settings
- Define your Workflow settings and create your Circulus inbox ID
- Have that user complete the ID verification and set-up the company bank account

WORKFLOW SETUP

- Invite vendors to register their bank account for ACH payments
- Adjust any configurable user permissions to fit requirements for user roles
- Add any users who will need access to Circulus and set their permissions

TESTING

- Create your first bill in Circulus, and perform a manual sync
- Check the QuickBooks account and confirm that the newly created bill synchronized
- After paying your first bill, sync and verify that the payment ID appears in the memo field of the payment details in QB
- Generate an "Unpaid Bills" report in the Client's QuickBooks account, and cross-reference the reported bills with the bills that synced in Circulus
- Cross-reference the first bill payment information listed in Circulus with the payment information in your Client's QuickBooks Account

ONGOING MANAGEMENT

- Pay any partially paid bills that do not sync from QuickBooks initially outside of Circulus
- Forward bills to your bill inbox
